Commonwealth designed this exhibit at the visitor centre of the Blue Jay Creek Fish Culture Station on Manitoulin Island as part of a Provincial strategy to promote the effective management of our fish and wildlife. The visitors centre functions as a marketing tool enticing visitors to explore the region and offers a glimpse at the efforts the MNR is making to manage and rehabilitate Ontario's fish stock.

Outdoor Signage Package & Logo Design

The design incorporates both two and three-dimensional artifacts in a sequence of themed exhibits displayed using visitor pass-throughs, dioramas, interpretive signs, (outdoors), and a selection of photographs and audiovisual components.
